

2117 Tanger Socco,
Tangier, Morocco.
17/v/85

Dear Richard:

Thanks for sending the Carnegie Hall program. People are continually asking me if records are available and if cassettes were made at the same time, questions I'm unable to answer. Europeans want to know if either records or cassettes can be found in the U. K. or on the continent. I suppose they can't, but maybe they can.

When will you know whether The Fire Unleashed got past the network executives or not? And when will you know whether you're coming to Asilah this summer?

It's been a chilly spring here also, but then, spring doesn't get going before June in any case.

There's a new hotel in Asilah. It looks terrible, but sometimes looks are deceiving. I hear the food isn't any worse than at most small Moroccan hotels. Of course one long ago gave up expecting tasty meals outside the big cities, and even there the food can be awful. If only they didn't try to prepare la cuisine internationale and stuck to local dishes everything would be fine.

So anyway, until soon, I hope.

all my best,

Paul B.